

CANDLEHOLDER KARL HAGENAUER CA. 1938

Six-flame candleholder, design by Karl
Hagenauer, execution by Werkstätte Hagenauer
Wien, ca. 1938, brass, cast, polished, marked

The six-light basket chandelier by Werkstätte Hagenauer from the 1930s captivates with its refined functional form, free of ornamentation or figurative elements. Six elegantly curved rods with tulip-shaped sockets rise from a trumpet-shaped base, creating a harmonious and well-balanced silhouette. The warm brass tone enhances the timeless elegance of the design, while the precise craftsmanship accentuates its clarity of form. With its functional, geometric aesthetic, the chandelier anticipates the clean lines of the later Mid-Century design movement.
