

GONDOLIERE KARL
HAGENAUER CA. 1930

€5.900,00

Venetian Gondolier with lady, design by Karl Hagenauer, manufactured by Werkstatte Hagenauer Vienna, ca. 1930, nickel-plated brass, carved wood, marked

With their artistic objects, Karl and Franz Hagenauer also catered to longings that were unattainable for many people in the austere interwar period. The Gondola exemplifies such a place of longing as Venice is one par excellence. Its high-curved bow with the typical prongs unmistakably refers to the boats of the Italian lagoon city.

Standing upright and equipped only with one oar, the Gondolier rows the slender gondola through the waterways. At his feet a lady is reclining, and with her upward gaze she could be admiring him as well as the beautiful sights of Venice.

Simple yet artistic in its reduced form, this composition represents the elegant design and masterful workmanship of Werkstatte Hagenauer.
