

TENNIS PLAYER
WERKSTATTE HAGENAUER
CA. 1950

€4.500,00

Tennis player, Werkstatte Hagenauer Vienna, ca.
1950, brass cast and patinated, marked

Karl and Franz Hagenauer had a passion for sports, which finds expression in numerous motifs. Whether the popular skiers or polo players in the early years of Werkstatte Hagenauer, or horsemen, boxers, and golfers: various sporting activities - mostly conveying a certain lifestyle - are captured in lovingly designed sculptures.

This statuette shows a tennis player in an almost caricature-like snapshot. Balancing on solely one leg, he returns his opponent's serve, seemingly with a one-handed backhand. The tennis player, fully committed to the game, is even stretching one leg beyond the wooden base. With an expert's eye and a twinkle, the sporting pose is cast in a charming figurine.
